Economic Developments and the Banking System, 2022

Global Economy

Geopolitical risks were decisive: The Russia-Ukraine war which erupted in February 2022 resulted with disruptions in the supply of food, energy and basic raw materials. As a result of full closure in China following the epidemic, disruptions in the supply chain continued. Supply-side constraints accelerated the already-increasing inflation rate around the world and increased the risk perception. Sanctions had a negative impact on trade and payment systems.

Demand-repressing measures were taken in developed economies. Central banks in these countries started to increase short-term interest rates. Policy rates were increased by 400 base points to 4.4 percent in the USA and by 200 base points to 2.5 percent in the European Union. Central banks announced that asset purchase program will slow down starting with 2023. Capital inflows directed to developed economies.

Growth decelerated in developed and developing economies. The global economy is estimated to have grown by 3.4 percent in 2022. The growth rates were 2.7 percent in developed economies and 4 percent in developing economies. The growth rate in the global economy in 2023 is estimated to be low.

Global trade slowed: Global trade expanded by as low as 5.1 percent. International Monetary Fund (IMF) estimates an even lower growth of 2.4 percent in global trade in 2023.

Inflation rate increased in developed and developing economies: The increase in the inflation rate accelerated in developed and developing economies in 2022. Inflation rate in developed economies was 7.3 percent. Inflation rate in developing economies was 9.8 percent.

Debt ratio declined: The shrinking trend in global debt continued in 2022. With no significant change in developing economies, debt ratio in developed economies decreased. Ratio of debt to gdp in developed economies decreased by 21 points as compared to the previous year. The most notable decrease in debt in developed economies was in the public sector. The negative real interest rate played an important role in this development.

Sustainability: Despite the surge in energy prices, sustainability policies were not affected significantly and continued to be a major item in the global agenda. COP27 meetings were held. However, no major breakthrough happened regarding the implementation of sustainability policies in 2022.

Financial sector and technology: Wider adaption of emerging technologies in the financial sector resulted with wider use of digital products and services. The impact and the share of fintechs in the finance ecosystem increased.

Turkish Economy: Summary

Growth exceeded long-term average: Economic activity continued to be strong throughout 2022. The growth rate was 5.6 percent, exceeding the long-term average. Domestic consumption was the most significant contributor to growth. Net external demand had a positive impact on growth.

Employment continued to improve: The number of employed people increased by 1.9 million and unemployment rate decreased by 1.6 points to 10.4 percent.

Inflation rate continued to be high: Consumer and producer inflation rates were high, 64.3 and 97.7 percent respectively.

Policy rate down to single digit: Policy rate decreased by 5 points to 9 percent. Real interest rate as per the realized inflation rate was negative from 2021 Q4 onwards.

TL commercial loan interest rates decreased: Commercial loan interest rates decreased by 10 points to 14 percent. TL deposit interest rates were above loan interest rates, at 24 percent as of the end of the year.

Currency exchange rates: As of December 2022, USD/TL rate was up by 44 percent and EUR/TL rate was up by 35 percent. As of the end of the year, the exchange rates were 18.69 for USD/TL and 19.93 for EUR/TL.

Budget deficit remained lower than target: The budget performance was better than the target. The ratio of the budget deficit to gdp was 1 percent, which is lower than the objective of 3.5 percent.

Debt ratio decreased: Debt ratio, already lower than developed and developing economies, continued to decrease. Debt ratio in the public sector decreased by 8 points to 35 percent. Debt ratio decreased by 16 percent in the real sector and by 3 percent in households.

Current account deficit increased: Current account deficit increased as a result of the increase in energy prices and net gold imports. Despite the recovery in tourism revenues, the ratio of the current account deficit to gdp was 5.4 percent.

International reserves: The Central Bank reserves increased by USD 20 billion. The increase was fueled by fx-based deposit accounts and swap operations.

External debt stock decreased: Total external debt stock decreased by 5 points to 51 percent as compared to 2021.

Real sector fx short position retreated: Real sector fx short position retreated by USD 30 billion to USD 91 billion.

Portfolio investments by international investors retreated: In 2022, there was a net outflow of 13 billion dollars in portfolio investments.

Market value of companies traded at the stock exchange increased. Market value of companies traded at the stock exchange increased by 103 percent to USD 332 billion and its ratio to gdp increased by 11 points to 41 percent.

The gdp growth objective specified in the Program is 5 percent in 2023 and 5.5 percent in other years.

Banking Sector Overview<sup>1</sup>

Banking sector assets to gdp ratio decreased

Major developments effecting the banking sector in 2022: These include the uncertainty and risks resulting from the war between Russia and Ukraine, high interest rates in international money markets, the decrease in domestic short-term interest rates, high inflation, negative real interest rates, FX-protected deposits, monetary policies encouraging use of loans and securities, impact of technology on products and services and sustainability agenda.

Impact of the developments: Risk levels have been high. The ratio of the balance sheet to gdp has decreased. The pressure on liquidity has increased. Asset quality has been reasonable and capital adequacy has been high. Average equity profitability has increased at a rate lower than the inflation.

Monetary and credit policy: Many regulations and changes have been made effective regarding monetary and credit policies. Regulations have increased intermediation cost in financial sector and effected loan pricing and loan decisions. The relation between risk and revenue has been effected. The banks have tried to keep the demand for long-term and low-yield securities low as a function of the loan policy to limit liquidity risk and interest risk. TL loans offered to major companies slowed due to the guiding credit policy. However the increase in amount of TL loans offered to SMEs exceeded the rate of inflation. Companies in the real sector continued to mitigate currency risk and FX loans narrowed.

Within the context of the regulation on the banking industry;

1. Policy rate was decreased to 9 percent from 14 percent.
2. The scope of required reserves was expanded; interest payments for required reserves was set to "0", required reserve commissions were introduced based on TL transformation rates, provision of required TL reserves in gold was ended.
3. Banks are required to provide securities for FX deposits; the securities should be fixed-rate and long-term; the scope of required reserves was expanded and method of calculation was changed. The requirement to provide securities was expanded to non-bank institutions.
4. The FX-protected deposits introduced in December 2021 was expanded to businesses and certain non-residents.
5. Exporters and others engaged in businesses where they earn foreign currency will sell 25 percent of their earnings to CBRT; it was later increased to 40 percent. Additional conditions were introduced for rediscount loans.
6. The risk weight of derivative transactions with foreign parties was increased, loans to businesses were made subject to limitations based on FX position. The bank's FX position limit was narrowed to 5 percent of the equities from 20 percent. The ratio was increased to 10 percent in March 2023.
7. Returned checks, protested bonds and credit card debts were allowed not to be considered if paid until July 1, 2023 or restructured.

Purpose of the regulation framework: The purpose of the regulation framework is to increase the demand for TL and boost international reserves, decrease the demand for foreign currencies and provide loans for selected industries and areas (export, operations which result with foreign currency earnings, agriculture, SMEs).

FX-protected deposits: Beginning with early 2022, the share of FX deposits in total deposits decreased to the transition from FX deposits to FX-protected deposits. The currency risk is assumed by the Central Bank and the Ministry of Finance and Treasury. Commissions were introduced based on the share of FX-protected deposits and TL deposits within all deposits. Therefore, banks introduced higher interest rates to increase the share of TL deposits. Additional interest was introduced for FX-protected deposits converted from FX. A limited increase has been observed in FX deposit rates.

FX-protected deposits reached TL 1,415 billion (USD 75.8 billion) as of the end of 2022, amounting to 16 percent of all deposits.

Shareholders' equity: Shareholders' equity increased by 98 percent to TL 1,407 billion; it increased by 36 percent to USD 73 billion.

Capital adequacy: The ratio of shareholders' equity to risk-weighted assets was 19.5 percent while the core ratio was at a high level with 15.5 percent.

Liquidity ratio: The liquidity ratio increased by 5.2 points to 156 percent as compared to the previous year as of December 2022.

Loan to deposit ratio decreased: Loan to deposit ratio decreased to 86 percent from 92 percent in 2022. This ratio decreased from 151 percent to 107 percent in TL and maintained at 61 percent in FX.

Non-performing loans: Loan risk was low. The ratio of non-performing loans to total loans was 2.1 percent, 2.2 percent in consumer loans and 1.8 percent in personal loans. Special provisions were allocated for 87 percent of non-performing loans. The ratio of general provisions to Group II loans of deposit and investment banks was 33 percent.

Loan interest margin: Return on equity increased due to the increase in market value of inflation-indexed securities portfolio, the decrease in short-term funding costs, the increase in the yield of loan and securities and the increase in loan volume. Average return on equity increased from 14 percent to 40 percent, and average return on asset increased from 1.3 percent to 3.7 percent. Average return on equity was negative in real terms.

Non-deposit funds: The ratio of non-deposit funds to gdp decreased from 32 percent to 17 percent and the share of FX non-deposit resources decreased from 21 percent to 13 percent.

The ratio of funds provided for the banks by the CBRT through open market operations to the balance sheet is 1.4 percent and the ratio of funds provided through swap operations is 6.2 percent.

Foreign assets and liabilities: Total international assets and liabilities of the banking industry are USD 68 billion and USD 127 billion, respectively.

Securities portfolio: The ratio of securities, most of which consist of government debt securities, to assets is 17 percent. The ratio of banking industry TL securities to domestic TL debt stock was 28 percent and the ratio of FX securities to FX debt stock was 10 percent.

The ratio of loans to gdp ratio decreased by 17 points to 51 percent.

The share of FX loans to total loans decreased to 33 percent in December 2022 from 42 percent. FX loans decreased to USD 132 billion from USD 155 billion.

The share of loans within total assets is 53 percent. Share of corporate loans, SME loans and retail loans are 50 percent, 27 percent and 23 percent, respectively. The share of SME loans increased by 3 points as compared to the previous year.

Commercial loans were in a wide range of industries. The share of the manufacturing industry in total loans increased by 1 point to 22 percent. Other industries with increased share were wholesale and retail trade, agriculture, warehousing and finance. The share of transportation, communication, energy and construction decreased.

Restructured loans: Restructured loans (deposit banks and development and investment banks) stood at TL 424 billion. This is 5.7 percent of total loans.

The share of Group I loans is 88 percent and the share of Group II loans is 9 percent.

Revenues: Interest revenues from loans and from securities increased by 82 percent and 130 percent, respectively. The share of interest revenues from securities within all interest revenues increased from 25 percent to 39 percent.

Net profit: The net profit of the banking sector increased by 371 percent and provisions for taxes increased by 445 percent in 2022, as compared to 2021.

Profit distribution: The profits distributed by the banks in 2021 was less than 10 percent of total profits. Profits were distributed as per the rules specified by the Banking Regulation and Supervision Agency.

Market value of banks: The market value of banking sector's stocks traded at Borsa Istanbul increased from USD 16 billion to USD 37 billion. The ratio of market value of banking sector's stocks to total market value was 11 percent. The ratio of market value to book value increased from 0.58 to 0.96.

Share of banking groups: The shares of deposit banks, development and investment banks and participation banks in total assets are 86 percent, 6 percent and 8 percent, respectively.

Share of top five and top ten banks: As of December 2022, the shares of top-five and top-ten banks in total assets are 61 percent and 88 percent, respectively.

Market share: The market share of public deposit banks in total assets is 38 percent. The shares of private banks and deposit banks owned by non-residents are 29 percent and 19 percent, respectively.

Impact of economic policies on the banking industry

The purpose of the economic policies in 2022 were declared to be maintaining growth and increasing investments, employment and FX revenues. Monetary, fiscal and credit policies have therefore focused on growth. Short-term interest rates were down to single digits and was negative in real terms as compared to the realized consumer inflation. The ratio of the Central Bank's balance sheet to gdp was 21 percent.

FX-protected deposits, regulations aimed at increasing TL demand and decreasing foreign currency demand, regulation which imposes purchase of long-term and low-yield assets for loan growth, commercial loan interests and customer/industry preferences, and the regulation aimed at increasing the share of TL deposits among all deposits were the main elements of this policy framework. The bank's decisions on offering loans and holding assets were also made subject to certain conditions and limitations. The regulations have basically focused on increasing the operational costs of the banks and complicating risk management.

There was a high demand for FX-protected deposits which require converting from a foreign currency to TL. Under certain conditions, FX risk attached to such accounts is shared by the Central Bank and the budget. FX-protected deposits reached TL 1,415 billion (USD 76 billion) as of the end of 2022, amounting to 16 percent of all deposits.

The banking sector has contracted in real terms and the ratio of total assets to gdp has declined from 127 percent to 96 percent. The relation between risk and revenue was effected. The banks have made their best efforts to abide by the applicable regulations to limit the size of fixed-interest securities and better manage interest risk. Especially the increase in the rate of TL loans offered to SMEs has exceeded the rate of inflation. The regulation on securities has pushed down loan interest rates.

The demand for FX-based deposits have partially decreased the pressure on TL deposit interest rates. On the other hand, TL deposit interest rates have been higher than TL loan interest rates and foreign currency deposit interest rates have been low. The primary reason is that the banks have shifted to TL deposits due to criteria applicable based on transformation rate and the share of TL deposits in total deposits. Loan interest margin has narrowed and gone negative at the end of the year.

Interest revenues have increased more than interest costs due to the increase in the market value of inflation-indexed assets in the asset portfolio, increased loan volume, and the increase in interest rates due to the maturity of assets being shorter than resources. This has had a positive impact on profit volume. This has increased average equity revenues and average asset revenues. Average equity revenues have increased from 14 percent to 40 percent by lower than the inflation rate.

February 6 Earthquakes and the Banking Industry

11 provinces were effected from the earthquakes in Kahramanmaraş on February 6th and 7th of 2023. The earthquakes have resulted with loss of lives, including 75 bank employees and huge property damage.

BAT Board has held a meeting on February 6, 2023 and coordinated with BRSA to,

- i. Delay the payment date of any debt which have or will be due in 6 months for up to 6 months if requested by the debtor,
- ii. Facilitate payment of debts and/or provision of loans as assessed on a customer basis,
- iii. Organization of loan risk, loan payment, bond and checks notifications to clients living or working in the region or having an account at the branches in the region in line with the Risk Center force-majeure regulations.

In coordination with public institutions, Disaster Coordination Groups were formed and sent to the region with necessary materials and containers. Search and rescue teams organized by the banks were also sent to the region.

Following the earthquake in the region, 73 percent of all branches and 34 percent of all ATMs were out of service. Within the first week following the earthquake (February 14), banking services were available all around the region through minimum one channel.

Within four weeks following the earthquake, a total of 116 branches, 182 ATMs, 133 mobile/container branches and 27 temporary service points were operational.

The decision dated February 14, 2023 by BAT Board requires the following in five provinces and two districts;

- i. Delay of loan payments and non-cash loan commissions in the region for six months,
- ii. No fee requests for lost/damaged POS devices in the region,
- iii. No fee requests for banking services and POS use.

In line with the Presidential Decree; confiscation and collection procedures were halted.

In other provinces effected by the earthquake, loan payments were delayed for one month.

Furthermore, it was recommended that the credit card debt of individuals who lost their lives are canceled (the remaining amount after the insurance is collected).

Based on the data provided by the Banking Regulation and Supervision Agency, the ratio of cash loans to all loans was 10 percent and non-cash loan collection ratio was 5 percent as of the end of 2022.
